

Tuesdays and Thursdays
2:00-3:15pm beginning June 17

Mythology around the World

with Mrs. Armstrong

Modern fantasy literature and movies rely heavily on ancient mythology in their story telling, but do you know the origin of these mythologies? Come on a journey to the beginning of time and explore mythologies and related stories from around the world.

Mythology around the World

Modern fantasy literature and movies rely heavily on ancient mythology in their story telling, but do you know the origin of these mythologies? Come on a journey to the beginning of time and explore mythologies and related stories from around the world. All cultures have tales of how the world and all its parts came to be. Greek, Roman and Norse mythology are popular in Western culture, but we will also explore myths from Africa, Asia, and the Americas. Prior to each session, students will read 2-3 myths with similar themes from various cultures, and during the session, we will participate in discussion and activities related to that theme. At the end of our journey, students will be able to identify common features of myth, recognize these features in literature and popular culture, and have our hearts and affections pointed toward the "True Myth" that is the Gospel.

Materials will be provided

No Class Thursday, July 4th

Suggested ages: 4th-8th Grade

About the Instructor

Jennifer Armstrong has a B.S. in English and an M.A. in Student Affairs Administration from Ball State University in Indiana. She is a homeschool mom of two and has been homeschooling her daughters with the support of a classical tutorial since 2014. She has been teaching lower school English and History in the tutorial since 2019 where she enjoys looking for the true, good, and beautiful with her students. After more than twenty years working in Higher Education, she's looking forward to focusing on educating young students in the fundamentals of the English language and giving them the tools to recognize and create beautiful and true things as they grow. When she's not teaching, she enjoys reading and discussing literature, creating things from fabric and yarn, and trying to make a garden grow.

jarmstrong.scholeacademy@gmail.com